One of the most difficult tasks for companies is to effectively manage contractors who are embedded, short-term, emergency, or just day visits. All contractors need to be as safe as your own employees while on your site.

We have simplified this tedious process. We can customize to your needs and provide you with an effective data management system, not just a review of the contractor records, but all the pieces to get them on-boarded and annually reviewed.

We include our online educational platform to help you instruct, verify, and manage contractor onboarding and educational expectations.

The system comes with a security module, human resources module, contractor sponsor/project manager module, and an EHS module. Depending on your workplace and contractor flow, these can be implemented to effectively manage contractors in and out of your facility or simply to manage the educational and onboarding processes as required. Managing contractors is about managing risk. Our system does this effectively by using a task-based risk assessment for both safety and environmental risks.
